"The values of transparency and accountability and resistance under pressure that I have developed through hard experience with WikiLeaks, that is what we intend to take to Canberra."

Leslie Cannold

"I want to be a voice for Australians concerned about the security of their private information and what the Government is doing in our name."

Binoy Kampmark

"A monitored government, rather than a government monitoring its subjects, has always been the aim of a healthy democracy. WikiLeaks is the only party of its kind to remind voters of that aim."
